[AW to SWW, C. 2nd. 1884?]

Thursday evg.

I willingly ascribe
your non-appearance today my dear to the bitter weather. tho' Mother's Canker may have had something to do with it. I can but hope that your watch to night may may not be severe.
that she will sleep & you.
Mrs. Fairchild, ^{who called this P.M.} told us the thermometer was 2° below 0 this A.M. It was ^{last night} windy too, but I carefully shut-up the house before bed time & did not shut-off the water & no harm came. To night - I shall not trust it.

Should the air be as keen on Sat. I shall not go out unless I hear from you to the contrary. I now that I think of it. As Mr. A. T. K. is to be absent for some days & I can have every day to work alone I will put off going until Sunday unless a propitious wind tempt my barge that way earlier.

A Card from Mrs. C.
Friday says - Possibly a little improvement - by which I infer that there is no improvement at all. I begin to feel uneasy about her, but perhaps there is no occasion. As previous acc'ts. had been very favorable.

all occurrences of colds with some were you having any of them
